

MANY CONVERSIONS

Additions to Churches Yesterday not Confined to those who went Forward in the Revival.

The Revival Spirit is not dead but rather seems to be growing if the attendance upon all the Alexandria church services yesterday can be taken as a criterion. At both morning and evening services, in many instances, the auditoriums were crowded long before the hour of beginning them.

In all those churches in which it is customary to receive members immediately there were considerable accessions to the membership rolls.
The three Episcopal Church also expect large additions to their lists of communicants. The date upon which there will be received depends upon the time at which Bishop Gibson, will be able to come here.
The rectors of these churches expect, however that he will be able to come early in November.

One of the notable features of the yesterday morning service was the attendance of Gypsy Smith, Jr., at the First Baptist Church where he heard the Rev. E. B. Jackson, preach on "Who is a Real Christian." Mr. Smith left soon after for Charlottesville, where his campaign opened last night with a very large attendance.

Presbyterian Church

The Rev. Dr. John Lee Allison, yesterday received into his church membership 72 persons, of this number 60 came on confession of faith and 12 on renewal of vows.
The greater number of these latter were members of the Sunday School.
Dr. Allison preached an inspiring sermon in the morning concerning the duties of church membership to a congregation that packed the auditorium. The evening service was given over to the Sunday School under the direction of Captain Frank L. Slaymaker. Dr. Allison also spoke briefly. The Sunday School membership pledged itself to subscribe $50 for Home Mission work among the Southern mountaineers.

First Baptist.

The Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson, preached at both morning and evening services to very large congregations. His sermons had to do with the Christian life and character and were inspiring and practical in their application to every-day needs.

Second Baptist.

This church also was crowded beyond its capacity at both services, and particularly in the evening when,
from the Gypsy Smith, Jr., hymnal, at 7:30 o'clock, the preaching service was preceded by a song service from the Gypsy Smith, Jr., hymnal.
When the invitation was extended by the Rev. O. W. Triplett, pastor of the church, a number of new converts went forward and began the new life. Eleven women and twenty-four men were immersed.

Mr. Triplett's sermons were delivered especially with a view to instruction and encouragement of new members altho in one of them he said that some of the utterances he had to deliver would hit old members hard and they needed to be hit.
Trinity Methodist.

In response to the invitation of the Rev. Lytleton M. Ferguson, there were a number of conversions in Trinity Church yesterday.

Rev. Ferguson preached two inspiring sermons yesterday, on "Your Adversary," and "A Faithful Saying," to two of the largest congregations the church has held in a long time.

Methodist Protestant.

The congregation which heard the Rev. Edward T. Kirkley preach yesterday, were among the best, not alone from the point of numbers, but also in the spirit manifested. The church has known during Mr. Kirk-ley's incumbency. Mr. Kirkley admitted twelve persons into membership and there was one response to his invitation to begin the new life.
Mr. Kirkley preached an optimistic and cheering sermon on "Joy," in the evening.

Methodist Church, South.

In the Methodist Church, South, at both services yesterday, a number of people accepted the invitation

PROSPECTS FOR PLANT

M. B. Harlow Sees Washingtonians in Effort to Induce Their Co-operation—Meeting on Wednesday.

The prospects of Alexandria securing the new government armor plant are growing brighter every day. It is openly said that the facilities offered by this city surpass those of any other city bidding for the plant. There is a river front of seven miles here which is paralleled by seven railroads.

M. B. Harlow, who is working assiduously in the interests of his home city, visited Washington again today, and made additional statements regarding the facilities offered in Alexandria for the plant, which, it is believed were convincing. While in the capital city he called upon P. T.
Moran, President of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, and suggested that the latter body appoint a committee to act with a similar committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Alexandria, to work in the interests of this city. Mr. Moran made it known that the Chamber of Washington, should find Washington is not to be selected, will use every effort to secure the plant for Alexandria.

The general committee of Alexan-drians who are devoting much of their time in efforts to bring the plant here, will meet Wednesday at 3 p. m., in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. Final preparations for presenting Alexandria's claims to the United States officials will be perfected at this meeting, hence every member is requested to be present.
The brief will be taken to Washington on Thursday at 11 o'clock a. m.

EXCITING SCENE IN COURT.

Wrathful Prisoner Fined Five Dollars For Contempt.

A woman sought the services of Officer Power last night in a search for her husband. It was supposed that the missing man was in an ark owned by Otto Vogelgesang, on the river shore in the northeastern section of the city. The officer and the woman proceeded to the spot and the former rapped upon the door. Vogelgesang, who was in bed, at the time, objected to being disturbed, and, according to the officer, used unconventional language to him. The officer threatened to force the door, when the colloquy became more exciting.
Vogelgesang had protested that the man being sought was not in the ark, and he alleged that the officer had acted rude toward him, and had threatened to use his stick.

The case came before Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning, when Vogelgesang in his testimony grew wrathful and called the officer a liar. Justice Caton immediately fined him $5 for contempt. The woman in the case being absent, it was determined to continue the matter until tomorrow morning in order to obtain her evidence.

FIGHT ON FAIRFAX STREET.

One Belligerent Fails to Appear in the Police Court This Morning.

Considerable excitement was caused on Fairfax Street near Franklin late Saturday afternoon by an encounter which took place between David Crockett and Samuel Kitson.
Officer Munday repaired to the scene and arrested the two men.
Kitson, who came out of the fight second best, failed to appear when the case was called up this morning.

Justice Caton determined to continue the case until tomorrow morning, when Kitson will be cited to appear. The origin of the trouble is not known.

COLORED WOMAN STABBED.

Her Assailant Sent to Jail for Six Months by Justice Caton.

The "Petersburg" section of the city was disturbed Saturday night by Officers Campbell and Reid were soon on the scene, when they learned that Maurice Williams had used a knife upon Maggie Lee. The woman had been seriously cut in the side. Williams was arrested and his victim hurried to the Alexandria Hospital, where she received surgical attention.

The assailant was arraigned in the

The dance given on Saturday evening in the Old Dominion Boat Club House was a very successful affair and largely attended. In addition to the Alexandrians present there were many Washingtonians. The music was furnished by an orchestra from Washington. The object of the dance was to raise funds to furnish a club room in the boat house. In charge of the various committees, on which served many prominent Alexandria young women, were Mrs. John T.
Ashton, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the club, and Miss Mary

THE RAMBLER.

We are inclined to laugh at fond-parents who talk continuously of the doings of their youngsters, but we laugh kindly at that—at heart we sympathize with them even though they often bore us. And yet why shouldn't they be proud of their youngsters, and talk about them?
God created man after His own image and in the creation of another such image, men and women achieve infinitely more than the painter, the sculptor, or the writer, for these latter, after all, simply attempt to reproduce human life.

The creative instinct lies in all of us. We must create either a picture, a child, a book, a wooden model or mischievous. The old axiom "Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do" is a recognition of this creative instinct.
And that is why it is imperative that we must all have something to do all of the time, whether work or play.
Look back into your experience and think of the people you know who went smash. You'll find their action had its source in evil thought grown and nurtured in idleness. And so those of us who at times grow weary of our labor have yet cause to be thankful for it. Work is the greatest painkiller in the world. I heard a very charming woman say yesterday:
"Thank God for work!" I echoed her thought. I knew what trouble she has passed through and I can see that work alone has kept her sweet and mentally wholesome.

Straw votes seem to be the fashion just now, so in my rambling yesterday I also took one. I spoke to thirty working men. Of this number nine were Republicans. And of the nine, six had been drawn to Wilson, by his action in the eight-hour question. Frankly, I was a little surprised by the appreciation of the President's motives. The thing that sticks out in their minds is his statement that the eight-hour day needs no arbitration—that it has the approval of society in general and has come to be an almost generally recognized right. One of the thirty was a railroad engineer.

"How do Republican railroad men feel toward the President?" I asked.
"Republican what?" He asked.
"Republican railroad men." I repeated.
"There ain't any," he retorted laconically.

I sometimes think that if people who literally pitch money away could know how little others have they would be greatly ashamed of themselves.

And of all the aches I think that of hungering and thirsting for the small but beautiful little things which make for the refinement of life is the very

EVANS'S BURIAL TODAY

Conducted in Home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sidney Douglas.

The funeral services for the late James Percy Evans, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the home these services and the interment which was in the Presbyterian Cemetery.

Mr. Evans died on Saturday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, in the Polyclinic Hospital, New York. The immediate causes were pneumonia and peritonitis, which set in following an accident on the race track at Jamaica Long Island, in which Mr. Evans was thrown from his mount in a gallant attempt to win at the last hurdle. when his mount, Association, raced neck and neck with Margery Jaque, ridden by A. J. Deveraux.

Mrs. Evans accompanied the body to this city from New York.
With her were J. Temple Gwathmey, of New York, and Warrenton; Val Crane, of New York; Leo Evans, brother of the deceased, and Sidney Josephthal, of New York.

Besides his wife Mr. Evans is survived by his mother, Mrs. Katherine Evans, and a brother, Leo Evans, of Warrenton, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Hallorday, of Bayside, Long Island.

Mr. Evans was born in Washington, D. C., September 15, 1874. He was educated at Georgetown University and after his graduation, took up farming as an occupation. He soon became interested in horses especially and speedily became one of the best-known horsemen in the East. He has many notable victories to his credit.

Present at the funeral services were many well-known horsemen as well as many friends of both families concerned.

hardest to bear—year in and year out.
It is not the poverty manifested in rags that is the most terrible. Each starved soul hides a tragedy.
In Alexandria as well as everywhere else—there are many women with beautiful characters and aspirations who have to go through life on coarse fare and in coarse clothes. Do you know any such? And do you know that a present of some little thing that would satisfy their aesthetic cravings would give them greater happiness than a dozen banquets?
But they are sensitive souls and hug their sorrows to their own hearts.
And never make the mistake of thinking that you always know poverty when you see it.

WOMAN'S WORK.

Commend Position Taken by Virginia Women.

The Third annual Flower Exhibition, with five judges from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., was given by the Civic League at Falls Church, on Friday and Saturday, of last week, and proved a most brilliant success.

The Civic League has recently joined the Virginia Federation of which Miss Helen N. Cummings is president, and she was delightfully entertained by its members when she visited Falls Church, and addressed the club.

Miss Cummings also visited the Current Events Club, of Vienna, and gave an account of her trip to the biennial session in New York. She has received letters from all over the United States, commending Virginia's courage in the stand taken in declining a directorship in the General Federation. The State President announced at the meeting of the nominating committee at the business session of the Biennial that the delegates, at a state meeting in New York, instructed the State President to vote against this proposition of having a director from each State.
Therefore, the State President, in order to carry out the instructions of her State, presented no name as director from Virginia, the Federation being in no financial condition to defray the expenses of a director.
